NARELLAN RHYTHMS RETURNS

Narellan Rhythms Festival will transform Narellan Library Plaza into a music, light and culinary extravaganza on Saturday 24 October in celebration of cultural diversity.

This year's festival is themed A Cultural Tempo and offers a jam-packed program of music, dance, workshops and cultural activities from 5pm until 9pm.

Mayor of Camden, Cr Lara Symkowiak said that this year's festival will include a number of new additions to the program.

"The festival provides the opportunity to showcase our cultural diversity and offers a vibrant and engaging program of events for our community to enjoy.

"For the first time, residents can enjoy a digital projection of unique images celebrating our cultural diversity set to original music by artist Amanda Handel.

"Other highlights include a twilight market, delicious cuisine from around the world and a mix of traditional and contemporary performances." Cr Symkowiak said.

Program Highlights:

- A digital display of our multicultural past and present in a light and sound projection
- Market stalls, food stalls and community workshops
- West Javanese dance and bamboo flute performance
- Matavai Cultural Arts Pacific Islander fire dancers
- A showcase of live music and entertainment from around the world
- Shadow puppet making
