Libraries host holiday creative workshops and game sessions

Young people can explore, create and compete with some programs offered at the Camden and Narellan libraries these school holidays (14-29 April).

Workshops and activities have been created for specific age groups of children and teenagers to enjoy.

Studio 101. A workshop for aspiring musicians and technicians looking to build skills in a sound studio. Learn to record, mix and master your tracks in the Narellan Digital Sound Studio – upstairs at Narellan Library. Meet and learn with other aspiring musicians and begin to lay down professional sounding demos. Stay until close for self-directed learning and studio time.

Ages: 14-25 years.

When: 5.45pm-7.45pm, Monday 16 April.

Cost: Free

What to bring: Your instrument and a USB to store your sessions.

Beebot Robotics Workshop. An interactive hands-on workshop designed to teach beginners programming skills at the Camden Library.

Ages: 5-10 years

When: 2pm-3pm, Tuesday 17 April.

Cost: $7

Film It. A one day course to learn how to direct, operate cameras and equipment, make storyboards and work with others to edit your own short films. Get behind the camera this school holidays and test your hand at all things film. Begin to build the skills to make great short films and kick-start your movie making journey upstairs at Narellan Library.

Ages: 13–17 years.

When: 10am-3pm, Wednesday 18 April

Cost: $10
