NEW Camden Kids website launched

Families can find all the local information and services they need in an easier way with the dynamic new Camden Kids website design launched recently.

The look, function and navigation of the site have been developed to optimise the accessibility and user experience for Camden's kids, parents and teachers.

Mayor of Camden, Cr Theresa Fedeli, said children and families were at the forefront of the design of the updated website.

"The brand-new design of the website allows families to find information easier and faster as well as supports families new to the area or residents new to parenthood," Cr Fedeli said.

"The clean, simple look of the site has been designed to meet a high standard of accessibility for people with visual impairments and responds to the technology being used to view it.

"Our new directories are split into categories including childcare, activities, health, support and parks and playgrounds which also allow you to search via filtering."

Camden Council has provided the Camden Kids website since 2010.

Residents can also subscribe to the Camden Kids eNewsletter, to be kept up to date with relevant news and events.
